II. NJLM Annual Conference – Beware of Scams

In recent weeks scammers have significantly increased their efforts and are using the Annual League Conference as a lure to the unsuspecting. As always, do not respond to emails offering services supposedly linked to the Annual League Conference unless you have heard directly from the League they are authentic. You can also always go directly to the League Conference page to check on services. Some of the bogus scams include hotel reservation services, and attendee lists for purchase. There may be other scams, so please be careful.
